Over the last two decades, SAGE’s science, technology and medicine program has grown rapidly, with SAGE now recognized as a leading independent publisher and one of the top five publishers of medical journals in the world. The science societies and associations of which we publish on behalf of more than 80 health and life sciences portfolio includes more than 400 journals (150+ open access titles). We publish in the biological sciences and clinical category.

Over the past five years SAGE has seen a 54% increase in the number of titles indexed in the Science Citation Index (SCI) and this year saw 234 titles ranked in the top 25% and 43 journals are also now ranked in the top 25% of their SCI category. 43 journals are also now ranked in the top 25% of their SCI category.
